

The Broads Society Website Policy

Introduction

Welcome to the Broads Society website. This policy outlines the terms and conditions regarding the use of our website by trustees, employees, and volunteers. By accessing or using our website, you agree to comply with this policy.

Information Collection

Personal Information

We may collect personal information, including but not limited to names, contact details, and roles within the charity. This information is collected with the consent of individuals and is used for legitimate purposes related to the charity's activities.

Cookies

Our website may use cookies to enhance user experience. Cookies are small text files stored on your device that help us analyse website traffic and improve functionality. By using our website, you consent to the use of cookies.

Information Usage

We use the information collected to:

Communicate with trustees, employees, and volunteers.

Provide relevant updates and information about our charity's activities.

Improve the content and functionality of our website.

Information Sharing

We do not sell, trade, or otherwise transfer personal information to external parties without consent, except for trusted third parties who assist us in operating our website and conducting our charity activities.

Security

We implement security measures to protect the confidentiality and integrity of personal information. However, we cannot guarantee the security of information transmitted over the internet, and users should be aware of the inherent risks.

Your Choices

You have the right to:

Review and update your personal information.

Opt-out of receiving communication from us.

Third-Party Links

Our website may contain links to third-party websites. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of these websites, and users are encouraged to review the privacy policies of linked sites.

Policy Updates

We may update this website policy periodically. Users will be notified of any changes, and continued use of our website constitutes acceptance of the updated policy.
